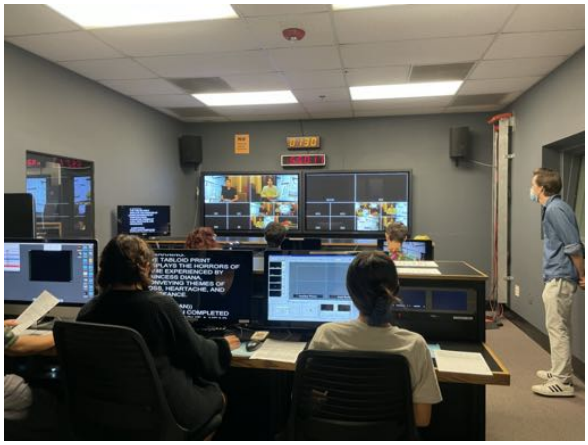
Hey Visionaries!

Trojan Vision shows are all up and running! All five of our programs have officially gone live and are in full swing. The Scoop and The Water Cooler had their premieres last week, and are set to release weekly episodes to carry out the semester.

Missed a show this week? You can find all past episodes on the Trojan Vision Facebook!

The Scoop's showrunner, Benjamin Marko, was thrilled to get back to broadcasting live, and is excited for more shows throughout the semester:

"Going live with the Scoop for the first time in almost two years was so exciting!" said Ben. "I forgot how thrilling it was to feel the adrenaline of everybody manning battle stations and producing TV live on air. I can't wait for the rest of the semester's shows and to show you all the great content we've got cooking up."



Check out future episodes of The Scoop, broadcasting Mondays @ 5:30pm!
