Hey Visionaries!

Spring 2022 classes have officially wrapped up, and the Trojan Vision team is preparing to pack up for the summer - but not without a few grand finales to share! From special broadcast episodes to a brand new video podcast series, Trojan Vision is finishing the semester with more than one bang. Continue reading below to learn how our hardworking team is bringing the spring semester to a close!

CTPR 409 courses end semester with special episodes

Our 409 courses went live for their final broadcasts of the semester this past week, with some extra special content! Congratulations to the teams behind The Morning Brew and The Water Cooler for putting on special, one-hour-long episodes! Soundstage also streamed its last episode of the semester, featuring an astounding performance from student guitarist Mircea Gogoncea and a sad goodbye to the show's longtime showrunner, Cameron Glass.

The Scoop finished with a very special episode featuring an interview with renowned filmmaker and USC Professor Ted Braun to discuss his new documentary Viva Maestro, a documentary about the legendary conductor Gustavo Dudamel of the LA Philharmonic.

Comedy Live had its final live sketch comedy show of the semester last April, the 22nd. Just as with its two previous live shows, the finale was hilariously entertaining. Congratulations to our Comedy Live Team and Professor Harrison Merk for a successful semester!

The crew, writers, directors, and showrunners of 409 have been an integral part of Trojan Vision this semester, and we are so happy to see their hard work come to life in these special episodes.

Thank you so much to our CTPR 409 courses for a great semester!

CTPR 404 video podcast available now!

All semester long, the students of CTPR 404 have been working under Professor Jackson Kroopf to produce a four-part video podcast titled "Behind the Scenes @ SC." Their efforts have finally come to life with the completion of the podcast episodes - three of which are available to watch today!

Behind the Scenes @ SC takes an in-depth look at current cultural issues, support services, and recent events impacting the USC community in 4 panel-style video podcasts. The topics are Student Wellness, Safety and Sexual Assault, Race in Greek Life, and USC's relationship to its Surrounding Community.

The first three episodes of Behind the Scenes @ SC are available now on the Trojan Vision YouTube. The final episode will be released in the coming week, so be sure to follow our social media posts for a link to the full four episodes of this important and fascinating podcast. Students interested in podcast production do not want to miss out on this informative and hands-on course. CTPR 404 is open for fall semester course registration!

Game Show Production course produces its first pilot!

Trojan Vision's Game Show Production class began the semester with nothing but a blank page, as Professors JD Roth and Kenneth Johnson encouraged students to use their imaginations to create a game show from scratch.

Now, the course has designed and developed a riveting game show called "Roomie Rivals," a hilarious show that tests just how well roommates know each other! The ideation of the game show was finally executed this past week, as 409 students shot the pilot episode of their new show, which will now undergo post production to prepare for improvements for next semester. Interested in game show television? Sign up for CTPR 409 in the fall, so that you can help to produce Roomie Rivals!

Thank you to our Management Team for a productive semester!

As the academic year comes to its close, Trojan Vision would like to give a special thanks to our incredible Management Team! The events, marketing, and content production done by Trojan Vision each semester would not be possible without the dedication of these five Trojans.

Ali Furse - Marketing General Manager

As general manager, Ali was responsible for producing and editing various promotional videos for Trojan Vision, including the rebrand of our show graphics, faculty video profiles, and show spotlights. Ali has maintained Trojan Vision's social media presence, and has been the lead of various Trojan Vision advertising campaigns, including Comedy Live, Let's Talk TV Webinar, and the new podcast minor, which includes CTPR 404. Thank you to Ali for all her hard work!

Kelly Osmolski - Campus Outreach Manager

Kelly, our campus outreach manager, extended Campus Vision content to include social justice issues, diversity inclusion groups, creative organizations and school specific clubs. Kelly also recruited new volunteers for Trojan Vision and started a central B-roll archive to use for Campus Vision episodes. Kelly's work will continue to have a positive effect on Trojan Vision in the coming semesters!

Maia Kirkpatrick - Assistant Producer

Maia worked this semester to place volunteers in positions they were most passionate about, helping students interested in Trojan Vision to find the position best for them. She also produced a documentary on Studio B's transformation following its unfortunate flooding. Maia shot footage of the studio's rebuilding over the course of several months, then edited the footage together to create this documentary. Thank you, Maia!

Phoebe Lai - Industry Relations Manager

This year, Phoebe interviewed and created spotlights for accomplished Trojan Vision alumni, which were shared with current students to provide insight into careers in TV Production, and increased engagement from the Trojan Vision Alumni Association. She was also responsible for producing and hosting Trojan Vision's "Let's Talk TV" Webinar, a panel event featuring accomplished directors Kathy Perez and Steven Martinez. The event was the perfect way to close out a productive semester!

Virginia Nelson - Campus Outreach Manager

Virginia worked alongside Kelly this semester to feature a diverse variety of USC organizations in Campus Vision episodes. Virginia also managed and maintained contact with the organizations interviewed by Campus Vision in order to ensure continued communications between Trojan Vision and the members of USC communities!

Congratulations to our Graduating Seniors!

Trojan Vision congratulates the seniors who will be graduating this spring! Many of these wonderful students have been part of the Trojan Vision team for several years, and we are sad to see them go. However, we are confident that these amazing creatives will go on to do great things post-graduation.

Congratulations seniors, and remember to keep in touch!
